U.S. Held Old Record Of 822—

British Jet Hits Official 1,132 MPH

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced Sunday that its "Droop Snoot" jet plane had recaptured the world speed record from the United States with a run of 1,132 miles per hour.

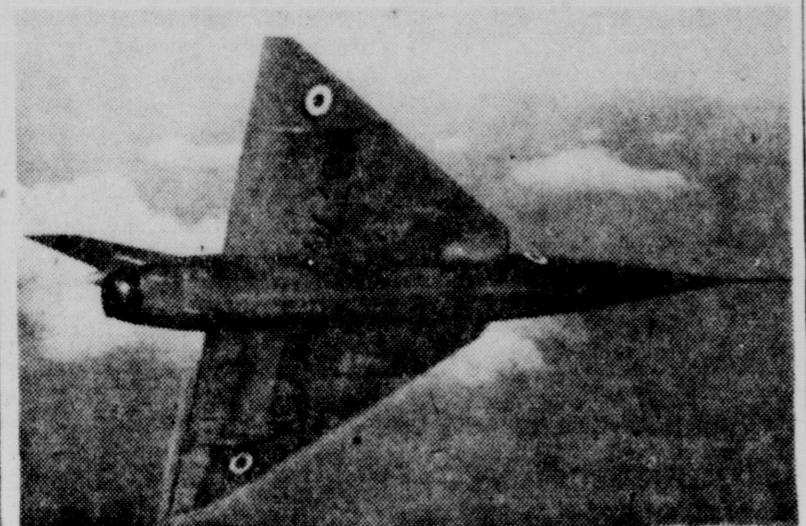

The recordbreaker was a dart-like jet formally known as the Fairey Delta 2.

It turned in the high-speed performance over a nine-mile course in southern England.

The jet flew at 39,000 feet. It made two runs, one at 1,117 miles and hour, and the second at 1,147 miles and hour. The average was submitted as the record.

The Royal Aero Club said the Droop Snoot became the first plane to fly more than 1,000 miles an hour over a measured course in straight and level flight. These are the conditions set by the International Aeronautical Federation for world records.

Col. Horace H. Hanes of the U.S. Air Force set the previous record last August. He flew a F100C Super Sabre at just over 822 miles per hour. Another American plane, the Bell XIA, has flown at 1,650 so the pilot can get a better look at the airstrip.

The Droop Snoot gets its nickname from the needle-pointed nose which shoots out far in front of the cockpit. During takeoff and landing the snout bends downward.

Mayor Gets Lots Of Numbers

Pranksters littered the yard of Mayor Clark Jeary at 600 So. Cotner with about 30 metal house number markers during the night Saturday. Out of town over the weekend, Jeary never saw the accumulation of markers as the Police Department had picked them up before he returned home Sunday. The markers were all stuck in the ground. The stolen numbers can be recovered by their owners at the police station. Jeary could see no significance in the prank. The mayor said his own house number has been stolen from his front yard several times. (Star Photo.)

96 Lawmakers' Manifesto Hits High Court Rule

TO USE 'ALL LEGAL MEANS'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nineteen senators and 77 representatives, all from the South, Sunday pledged to exercise every "lawful means" to reverse the Supreme Court ruling against school segregation.

They issued a manifesto calling the court's 1954 decision an unconstitutional, chaos-creating "abuse of judicial power."

In a "Declaration of Constitutional Principles," they promised to employ whatever legal devices are available "to prevent the use of force" in carrying out the anti-segregation ruling.

The Southern lawmakers also said:

"In this trying period, as we all seek to right this wrong, we appeal to our people not to be provoked by the agitators and troublemakers invading our states and to scrupulously refrain from disorder and lawless acts."

The manifesto recommended no specific "lawful means" of contesting the decision and maintaining segregation in Southern schools. Nor did it mention the resolutions of "interposition" by which some state legislatures have challenged the Supreme Court's authority to rule in a field they argue is reserved to the states.

Gore declined to comment. The names of two Republicans—Reps. Poff and Brophy of Virginia—appeared on the document. All the others were Democrats.

Except in the case of Tennessee and Texas, all or a majority of House members from the 11 states were represented. Only four of the 22-member Texas House delegation joined in.

Ag Need $$ Jump Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican senators estimated Sunday that the government must ask Congress for $3½ to 5 billion dollars more to pay costs of farm price supports and new soil bank program this year.

Their estimates came as Senate leaders called for another day and night session Monday to try to complete action on the controversial election-year farm bill.

Sen. George (D-Ga.) and Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.) plan to present the manifesto to both houses of Congress at noon Monday.

Although the phraseology differed, the substance of the completed declaration corresponded closely to excerpts of a draft that leaked out last week.

Thurmond said the committee that prepared the final statement included Democratic Sens. Russell (Ga.), Fulbright (Ark.), Daniel (Tex.), Stennis (Miss.) and himself.

George, at an initial meeting in his office earlier had called on Russell, Stennis and Sen. Ervin (D-N.C.) to develop the manifesto on the basis of a draft submitted by Thurmond.

3 Didn't Sign

The only three senators from states represented who did not sign the statement were Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Democratic Sens. Gore and Kefauver, both of Tennessee.

Johnson told reporters he was never asked to attend any of the group's meetings and was not shown the document before it was made public. Others said Russell had suggested Johnson be omitted because of his position as Senate majority leader.

Kefauver, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, said he did not sign the manifesto because, "I just don't agree with it." For that reason, he said, he did not take part in meetings of the Southern group.

Gore declined to comment.

Reformatory Fire Loss $600

About $600 loss was caused by fire at the Men's Reformatory at 2 a.m. Sunday when a stove in a chicken house exploded. Supt. Robert E. Nichols said Sunday.

The chicken houses are located south and west of the main buildings and the fire was not discovered by guards until it had smoldered for some time. About 35 chickens valued at $1 apiece suffocated before the blaze was noticed, Nichols said.

Guards fought the blaze with hand extinguishers until the city fire department arrived, he explained, and kept loss in the concrete block building to about $200 to $250.

Williams said that when the separate funds request is presented later "we can't vote against it then because we already have voted to incur the obligations."

You can help me (and I know you will) with my training as a young businessman. The paper I deliver to your home is bought at wholesale and retailed to you. The profits I make are made after I collect from you every 4 weeks. I certainly appreciate your promptness in paying when I call to collect.

Chill, Snow Bitter

Blizzard Misses Nebraska

The bitter cold which rolled over the northern Midwest Sunday behind a driving blizzard touched Nebraska lightly before moving on to maroon thousands of persons in Wisconsin and cover other Midwest states with at least two feet of snow.

Light snow fell over most of Nebraska Sunday evening, but forecasters said better weather was in sight for the state Monday.

Valentine was the hardest hit, with two inches of snow and temperatures dipping to seven below early Sunday. Chadron also reported two inches of snow, with Imperial, Scottsbluff and North Platte each receiving one inch.

Norfolk, Grand Island, Kearney and McCook were among points that had light snow Sunday evening. Light snow continued into Monday at Grand Island. Winds lashing out of the north at 20-25 miles an hour and temperatures between seven and 10 above, chilled those parts of the state.

By-Passes Nebraska

Although the blizzard predicted for the northern part of the state Saturday night, by-passed most of Nebraska, the resulting frigid temperatures were expected to continue through Monday, with the possibility of some snow in the southwest.

The highs Monday were due to range from 15-25 over the state.

Elsewhere the late season blast of winter which smothered the northern Midwest deposited a heavy blanket of snow measuring 24 inches at Mitchell, S. D. and 19-inch covering at Sioux Falls, S. D., the Associated Press reported.

Following the blizzard, which struck in its full fury late Saturday night and early Sunday, temperatures plunged as much as 30 degrees in areas.

Three deaths were blamed on the wide-spread blizzard which engulfed several states and reached into Canada. Press dispatches told of two Springfield, Ill., reserve airmen who perished when their National Guard plane crashed in Wisconsin during a blizzard.

New Violence Stirs Boiling Middle East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Africa and the Middle East Sunday shook with violence. In scattered parts of the world, rival leaders of East and West reviewed grand strategy which may settle the teeming region's fate.

Britain, putting down disorders in her eastern Mediterranean island bastion of Cyprus, was in hot water with Greece.

The exile of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the union-with-Greece movement on Cyprus, brought angry demonstrations in Athens and a government threat to review relations with Britain.

Greek Troops On Guard

Steel-helmeted Greek troops guarded the British Embassy in Athens against demonstrations such as those of Saturday which injured 80 persons.

Eleven persons were reported killed in the British protectorate of Bahrain in the Persian Gulf. Demonstrators there were dissatisfied with the British adviser to the Sheik of Bahrain.

Israel, beset by hostile Arab neighbors, charged that it had been fired upon from three sides in minor skirmishes—from Egypt to the south, Syria from the north and Jordan from the east.

There was no peace for the French in North Africa. The French said they killed 125 rebels in eastern Algeria. There were sporadic outbreaks elsewhere.

Araby 'New Era'

The Big Three of Araby, determined to oust foreign influence from the Middle East, promised in Cairo a communiqué Sunday which would proclaim a "new era" of Arab cooperation.

Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, King Saud of Saudi Arabia and President Shukri Kuwayti of Syria are expected to try to create a new neutral bloc in the Middle East.

Prime Minister Eden of Britain and Premier Guy Mollet of France met in London to try to undo misunderstandings over Middle East policy. The French have complained Britain and the United States overlook them in Middle East moves. Some British believe U.S. oil royalties pouring into King Saud's treasury bolster his antagonism toward Britain.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain visited Iran and Turkey, two partners of the Baghdad Pact which is the foundation stone of Western defenses in the Middle East. He said in Iran that atomic know-how would be extended to the Baghdad Pact powers.

The pact, which also includes Pakistan and Iraq, is an object of attack from the Arab Big Three. They hope to get Iraq, only Arab member in the pact, to withdraw.

The Communists, blamed by the West for most of the ferment in the Middle East, took a bright view of the situation. The newspaper Pravda in Moscow said the trouble in the Middle East is "a glorious and noble struggle."

WASHINGTON — The Greek charge d'affaires said Sunday night British reports that quantities of arms and ammunition were found at the residence of Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus "must be regarded as a futile attempt to justify an act of violence."

The British have deported the archbishop, Greek Orthodox Leader of a revolt by Greek-speaking Cypriots who seek union with Greece. The British said he was instigator of violence which has cost the lives of 17 British servicemen.

Tall Tales Land Lincolnite In Jail

OMAHA — A 37-year-old Lincoln man was booked for vagrancy Sunday after police said he had a weakness for telling tales.

Morals squadrons arrested him late Saturday night after a Farnam Street bartender said the man bragged he was a gangster from New York City. The bartender said he also boasted of "bombing" an Omaha construction company three weeks ago.

Morals Squad Sgt. Walt Wilson said, after checking his story, it proved false. The man was booked for vagrancy.

Olson Leaves Hospital

Ervin Olson, 21, of 4634 Bancroft, was discharged from Bryan Memorial Hospital Saturday.

He had suffered critical head and chest injuries as a result of the collapse of a building wall under construction at 710 No. 48th.

PROTEST ARCHBISHOP BANISHMENT

Rioters at Herakleion, on the Greek island of Crete, heave furniture and files from a window and balcony of the British consulate in protest against the banishment of Archbishop Makarios from Cyprus. Similar demonstrations swept through Athens and Salonika as Greek troops were called out to guard British, U.S. and Turkish embassies.

Aspirin Remains One Of Best Arthritis Treatments—Doctor

Aspirin is still one of the best drugs for treating arthritis, according to Dr. Lee Stover of Lincoln.

Aspirin does not hurt the heart, he said, and the only danger is continued use of it might be in "masking" the cause of pain, such as tumor.

The only ill effects aspirin may have, he continued, are that it may make a person's ears "ring,"

Jesuit Alumni Hold Ignatian Year Services

Jesuit school alumni in Lincoln were charged with the responsibility of seeking out the truth to find freedom in an address by Rev. Henry Casper, S. J., a faculty member of Creighton University in Omaha.

Alumni of Jesuit schools throughout the United States held special celebrations Sunday as part of the world-wide observance of the Ignatian Year, recalling the death 400 years ago of St. Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Jesuit order.

The Mass at St. Mary's Cathedral at 8 a.m. and the breakfast at 9:30 a.m. at the Cornhusker Hotel were attended by 25 Lincoln alumni.

At the breakfast, Rev. Casper compared times during the life of St. Ignatius with those of today. During his period of life, 1493 to 1556, European countries were in a state of upheaval and revolution, recorded in history as the renaissance.

Today's liberalism, said Rev. Casper, blossomed forth from the renaissance. The freedom being sought today, he said, will only be found if mankind becomes a slave to the truth.

There are about 125 Jesuit school alumni in Lincoln and 275 in the Lincoln area, according to Ed Dosek, who was in charge of arrangements for the local celebration.

Lady Bug Order Gives TV To Mental Hospital

The Royal Military Order of Lady Bugs No. 11 has presented the Lincoln State Hospital with a new television set for patients.

The Order making the gift consists of the organizations in Omaha, Lincoln, Fremont and Grand Island. Making the presentation was Mrs. Catherine Wilson of Lincoln, former president of the state order.

Eight members from the Lincoln circle attended the presentation and were served refreshments at the hospital.

Thousands find this method keeps nose clear all night long

Dry or dusty air, "smog," a head cold, overheated room, allergy . . . all can cause night nose clogging, spoiling your sleep and forcing you into harmful mouth breathing*

Thousands have found that Mentholatum quickly ends this annoying problem. Just apply Mentholatum in each nostril at bedtime. Instantly your nose feels clearer and, during the night, Mentholatum's soothing action relieves that dry, stuffy feeling. Congestion eases and you breathe normally through your nose.

*Why Mouth Breathing is Harmful

Breathe a clogged-up nose through your mouth, you send chilled dry air, laden with dust and germs, directly into your lungs. This and snoring, of course, go hand in hand. Mentholatum in the nose at night ends harmful mouth breathing.

Fatality Rise Brings Sharp Patrol Warning

The recent sharp increase in traffic deaths which recorded 10 deaths in the state during the first week of March, should serve to remind every motorist and pedestrian that freedom from accidents must be a matter of personal interest, Col. C. J. Sanders, Safety Patrol head, said Sunday.

The driver must adjust his speed to fit existing conditions of road surface, visibility and traffic, he said.

The best opportunity for insurance against becoming a statistic, he explained, is obeying traffic signs and signals, taking care in passing and showing consideration for the safety of a fellow traveler.

"On the other hand, the driver who consistently trusts luck, violates one or more of the traffic codes or disregards the rights of others is likely to contribute to the mounting toll of traffic deaths and injuries," he commented.

Col. Sanders pointed out that only 20 of 45 deaths recorded during the first 60 days of 1956 occurred on state highways. Ten were on city streets and 15 on county roads.

"These facts," he continued, "should serve to remind every motorist to be on guard against a false sense of security with the offering of lighter traffic on county roads."

He said it was obvious that travelers on county roads should be especially mindful of safety rules even though they might not be under the watchful eye of enforcement officers, radar units and aerial patrolling in areas not posted with speed signs and other warnings.

Sanders said that 34 additional troopers added since last October will be equipped with radio equipped mobile units as soon as they have completed their six months probationary period and added to the Patrol. This will increase the number of traffic patrolling units by 30 per cent.

He is scheduled to die on March 30 for the slaying of Trooper Marvin Hansen, of the Safety Patrol in Cherry County in 1954.

The Supreme Court had previously reviewed the case and upheld the death sentence. There was no oral argument on the motion to stay the mandate.

St. Elizabeth Caps 30 Student Nurses

By service, one finds happiness, the Rev. Max DeWitt, assistant chaplain of St. Elizabeth Hospital, told the 30 student nurses who were capped in ceremonies Sunday afternoon.

He is the friendly glass of beer which has come to be long—in today's Nebraska. Beer is the refreshing beverage of moderation, so right to serve when friends drop in or at family gatherings. Keep it on hand—always!

He was treated at Lincoln General Hospital and was later released.

Mrs. Joe Ulig, 50, of Geneva, Neb., suffered a badly sprained ankle in a two-car collision just west of the Air Base road on Highway 6.

She was treated at Lincoln General Hospital and was later released.

Mrs. Ulig was a passenger in a car driven by John Edgecombe, 32, of Geneva that was westbound. The car was in collision with a car driven by George Saunderson Jr., 20, LAFB, who was attempting to make a U-turn, a State trooper said.

Sisters and alumnae of the hospital were hostesses at a reception for parents and friends following the exercises.

B. R. Seals of 2725 A told police two hubcaps worth $10 were stolen from his car.

Donald Elwell of 2400 A related police that fender skirts valued at $20 were taken from his car.

John Mutchler of Greenwood told police four hubcaps worth $60 were stolen from his car parked at the Goodyear plant parking lot.

Mrs. Jack Allen of 2230 So. 13th told police her license plates were stolen from her car.

GOP, Democrats Set Separate 'Small Donor' Fund Campaigns

WASHINGTON — Unable to agree on a bipartisan drive, the Republican and Democratic national committees Sunday announced separate campaigns for small contributions.

The GOP said it is putting on a nationwide basis a "Thank You, Mr. President" doorbell ringing drive for small donations. This campaign, given a tryout in five states, has one million new contributors as its goal.

The Democrats announced a direct appeal for similar contributions from rank and file party members by use of television spot announcements. A pilot run is starting Monday over television in Des Moines, Ia., and in Dayton, Ohio.

Couldn't Get Together

The two major parties failed to get together several weeks ago on a proposed bipartisan drive for contributions up to $5, in which the Advertising Council's public service machinery would have been used. Party Chairman Leonard Hall and Paul Butler, accused each other of killing the plan.

GOP Chairman Hall made no reference to the dropping of the council plan in his announcement Sunday, but Butler did. The Democratic chairman repeated that "since the Republicans have raised five million dollars from large contributors," they refused to take part in the "council arrangement."

The GOP plan was first tried in Maryland and is now under test in Montana, Nevada, Iowa, and Washington. An army of women volunteers will conduct door-to-door solicitation, primarily among women voters, in extending the drive to 26 other states and the District of Columbia.

Can Add Note

Each contributor receives a post card addressed to President Eisenhower bearing a "thank you" note to which the donor may add a message of her own before signing the card.

Hall said women will want to express their thanks to the President for his leadership and record.

Funds raised by the women in each state will be shared on a 50-50 basis between the states and the national, House and Senate campaign committees. Mrs. Julie Kirlin is campaign director.

Butler's announcement said:

"We are going to use every means available to raise our campaign funds from small contributions. We would rather receive 25 cents from someone with no motive except to promote the welfare and security of all of our people than to receive $2,500 from someone looking for influence or special privilege."

Two NU Senior Moot Court Teams Go To Supreme Court; Others Listed

Moot Court competition will be at peak this week for University of Nebraska College of Law students.

The two senior teams which have survived three years of eliminating rounds of appellate argument will present their final arguments before Nebraska Supreme Court justices Friday night.

Finalists are Joseph R. Brown and Frank E. Piccolo, Jr., both of Lincoln, appellants, and Robert D. Baumfalk and Marvin L. Holscher, both of Lincoln, appellees. They will present their arguments at 7:30 p.m. in the Nebraska Supreme Court chamber.

The case concerns the validity of a parent's attempt during his lifetime to cancel at his death his daughter's obligation on a promissory note payable to him.

The winning team will be selected on the basis of its argumentative abilities rather than on the merits of the case itself.

Quarter-final rounds will be held for six teams of second year law students on Monday and Tuesday. A seventh team drew a bye and will meet one of the winners in next fall's semi-final competition.

Lincoln attorneys will serve as judges of these cases to be heard in the Law College court room. All freshmen will be eligible to enter the first elimination rounds next fall.

Increased Highway Costs

State Engineer Ress tells Nebraskans that the cost of an interstate highway across Nebraska is an approximate $160 million—nearly $54 million more than was estimated two years ago.

The increase can be explained easily enough by the fact that in 1954 the construction standards now regarded by Uncle Sam as not only desirable but to all practical purposes a "must," were not taken into consideration then. In the long pull, we assume, there will be a real economy in the building of better roads in the beginning. When and if the interstate highway system materializes, traffic burdens will be infinitely greater than they are today, heavy as they now are.

The trend is toward heavier truck loads and larger trucks. It is the incessant pounding to which the highways will be subjected—the pounding both by trucks and by passenger cars—that will justify the extraordinary outlay required for initial construction.

For a better understanding of the contemplated interstate highway system, it need only to be recalled that since 1917, Nebraska has spent slightly more than $350 million in the development of the federal-state highway system. Here is one highway of the latest and most modern construction which, when completed, will cost $160 million, or an approximate half of all the funds spent over a period of nearly 40 years. America, the beautiful, in truth and in fact is becoming constantly more impressive. There is no miracle today too great.

Praise, Not Criticism

A little disturbed over reports that raw sewage was entering Oak Creek Park lake by way of the creek to the north, we took time to pay a short visit to the area.

The visit was well worthwhile, not because of the raw sewage we failed to find, but because we saw what can be done with a minimum of expense. Remembering Oak Creek lake area of several years ago, we were quite pleasantly surprised to see the development that has taken place there.

A real park entrance has been provided between the so-called boat lake to the east and the fishing lake to the west. Planned drives are marked out and small trees dot the area. Even a little fenced-in playground area for the children has been provided.

The area is still no outdoor man's dream but it is a vast improvement over what was there in the past. The entrance area is actually very attractive, although the remainder of the park still leaves much to be desired. The important thing is that a start on the park and lakes has been made. If the improvement program is carried out all the way around the two lakes, Lincoln will have a recreation area it can be proud of.

Nowhere around the lake could be found any particularly unhealthy conditions such as raw sewage or garbage. A good house cleaning job could be done around the banks to remove old cans and bottles, tires, stones and other debris but nothing of an unsanitary nature was found.

A look at Oak Creek, from which water is being pumped into the lake, showed nothing but a very average stream with no signs whatsoever of pollution. A check with officials of Sanitary District 1 showed that to the knowledge of that body, no raw sewage is being dumped into Oak Creek, including the waste from the Air Base which is taken by a sewer into the disposal plant at Twenty-second and Theresa.

Rather than criticism for conditions at Oak Creek Park, the city's park department and the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce should be commended for the progress they have made there and encouraged to follow through with a complete program. It is that kind of enthusiasm, not the knocks, which build a better city in which to live.

Not only is the park being improved but, as has frequently been the case in the past, it is being accomplished with little cost to the taxpayers. A substantial part of the cash outlay for the program has been contributed by the Women's Division and most of the labor has been supplied through regular park department forces. It looks from here like Oak Creek park has been a pretty good bargain for the taxpayers.

Food For Security

By and large the national lawmakers who boom new product research to console a declining agriculture are indulging in a generality that reminds the thoughtful that research has been going on for years with results, but never the kind of results that prevent an occasional surplus of raw food materials.

One only need to glance down the shelves of a modern food store to note the multitude of processed items that did not exist 25 years ago.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It took the vote of the presiding officer of the United States Senate, Vice President Nixon, to break a deadlock in relation to legislation to establish the pattern of the 1956 farm program. When noses had been counted, the ballot to substitute Benson's flexible support plan for wheat instead of a support program based on 90 per cent of parity was knotted—45 to 45. There is where the vice president came in to save the day.

Apparently the battle is over for the time being. It was not drawn strictly along party lines. In the case of corn supports, 13 Democrats joined with Republicans in giving President Eisenhower a victory. Six Republicans voted with the Democrats in support of 90 per cent of parity. Yet, in these midwestern states particularly, the farm program promised to be the chief issue of a Presidential campaign. Just to keep history straight, we checked back on the files to find out what President Eisenhower told the American people in the fall campaign of 1952. His farm pledge appeared in the issue of Sept. 7, 1952. Don Whitehead's story for Associated Press papers carried this reference to the Eisenhower pledge as it appeared on page one, column four of the Sunday Journal and Star.

"Eisenhower proposed that parity be raised from the present 90 per cent to 100 per cent. He also advocated that price supports be extended to oats, barley, rye, and soybeans."

Far fetched? None of us can say that for sure. But this much is certain. It would be a good security measure and a form of surplus conversion that is not a generality.

Continued GI Bill

A national conference of educators has urged Congress to extend the educational benefits provided in the G.I. Bill of Rights during the Korean fighting.

The recommendation would include all honorably discharged service men who went on active duty after January 1, 1955.

Viewed in the light of national need and the great good that is manifest as the result of past experience in federal aid to ex-servicemen the case for continuing education-privileges is indeed strong.

Most of the consideration of the nation's need for more professionally trained men of late has centered around the principle of substantial federal grants to the schools themselves to provide more teaching, expanded facilities and better equipment. Undeniably such things are needed. But so are students, a lot of them. GI education has returned to the nation thousands of such well-trained young men only a portion of whom would be in a position to serve the national need if financing of their education had been up to them.

It's a little bit difficult to reconcile the description of the President's reaction to Senate action last Thursday night with the campaign pledge given while he was courting votes in the midwest in September of 1952.

LYNDON'S "CLEAN" SUBSTITUTE

By long-distance telephone and by using the office of the Democratic Policy Committee in the Senate, Sen. Lyndon Johnson has been bringing all kinds of pressure to distract the "clean elections" bill introduced by Sen. Jennings of Missouri and substitute for it his own hastily conceived elections bill, put together by him and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) after public opinion got hot under the collar against the oil-gas lobby.

Then he flew back to Washington for the climax of the natural gas debate but left immediately thereafter for Texas; flying, incidentally, in a Brown and Root private airplane. George Brown, of this firm, was one of the most effective lobbyists for the natural gas bill and has also been a heavy contributor to Johnson's campaign fund.

Johnson rested approximately a week in Texas. Then when he found that Senators Jennings (D-Mo) and Gore (D-Tenn) were likely to put across a penetrating probe of the gas lobby he flew back to Washington.

After about 10 days in Washington, during which he broadened and diluted the three-man Gore investigating committee, Lyndon flew back to Texas for another week's rest.

Thus, since Congress reconvened, the Democratic Senate leader has taken three separate vacations away from Washington. Eisenhowe, in approximately the same period, took 10 days off in Thomasville, Ga., and a similar amount of time in Key West. Eisenhowe, incidentally, has been given orders by his doctors to take 10

MARQUIS CHILDS

American Mid-East Policy Questioned

WASHINGTON—American policy, or lack of it, in the Middle East is rapidly approaching a stage of crisis. To try to stop the current drift which may not end short of war, the American approach to the bitter Arab-Israel dispute is being re-examined with the hope that a new and positive line can be taken.

The situation developing today bears some resemblance to events leading to the sudden necessity for the United States to accept responsibility for Greece and Turkey, which formerly had been part of Great Britain's task of order-keeping.

The British confronted the Truman administration with the fact that dwindling British resources made it no longer possible to carry the burden in the area and President Truman responded with the Truman Doctrine, pitting American strength against Communist aggression.

While this stage has not been reached in the Arab countries, London is bringing increasing pressure on Washington to get this country into the Baghdad Pact as an active partner and not merely as a helpful friend on the sidelines.

An appeal to that effect came from London recently. Officials here replied with the same answer that had been given before—that in the Washington view the objectives of the West will best be served if the United States continues to be a friendly observer ready to give assistance when needed.

But there is another parallel with recent history that is even more disturbing. The lack of a clear-cut policy on South Korea contributed to the crisis which confronted this country when the North Korean Communists attacked in force. Within a few days, the United States was carrying most of the load of a war that eventually cost 33,629 American dead and 103,284 wounded.

The West—Britain, France and the United States—has reaffirmed the tri-partite declaration of 1950, guaranteeing the borders of Egypt and Israel. This was one consequence of the Eden-Eisenhower talks last month.

But what this could mean is only just beginning to be realized. Short of any constructive steps, either to bolster the capacity of Israel to resist or to try to bring the two sides into some standstill agreement, it may well mean western forces, including American troops, eventually will undertake to hold the desert borders between Israel and the Arab states.

In short, it could mean a little Korea that could become a full-size Korea.

BOB CONSIDINE

Problem Of Aged Is Growing One

PALM BEACH, Fla.—The Eskimos are said to rid themselves of their aged by placing the offending oldster on an ice floe and casting him or her adrift to die.

We are sometimes as pitiless and frequently as thoughtless with our senior citizens.

But the ever-increasing millions of Americans of advanced age are not entirely forgotten. They and the problem they represent in a society whose retirement laws have failed woefully to keep pace with the advances in life expectancy are the concern these days of a meeting in Palm Beach of a score of great men of chemistry, sociology, medicine and philosophy.

The expectancy of life in the U.S. now has reached 70 years, twice the average span of life in George Washington's time," says Dr. Charles Sperti, key figure in the expanding work of the American Society for the Aged. "But we haven't learned to cope with or understand what better living conditions, better understanding of physical activities, the wonder drugs, and dieting have done to add years to our lives. We can still generate a lot more interest in an orphanage than in a home for the aged."

Dr. Sperti has lined up an impressive and varied group to talk out the problem of our aged, including Philanthropist Frank Hale, Labor Leader George Meany, Mary Pickford, several Nobel prize winners, and retired professors.

"Something seems basically wrong with a system that hails a professor on June 30, gives him a fine office and assistants to work with, and on July 1 says he's no longer fit to do his job," Dr. Sperti protests. "One day, every door has a welcome sign on it. The next day he is a bum."

At Emeritus House in Palm Beach, professors of note are invited to spend time in pleasant surroundings, continuing their interrupted research or embarking on new seas. Prof. Ernest Burgess, formerly of the University of Chicago, is busy at Emeritus House on a book about the American family. Dr. Sperti hopes that some day he can offer permanent residence at Emeritus House.

We aim toward alleviating the problem of the aged was summed up as (1) make the public more conscious that such a problem exists, and (2) improve the lot of the aged.

Without warning, Jesus suddenly returned to Nazareth Mary's home was surrounded with people, some poking fun, others shouting friendly greetings. 'Plans To Run' Made By Santee

By CHUCK CAPALDO

WES Santee Sunday made plans to run in the mile in next Saturday's Cleveland Knights of Columbus Games "no matter how my trial comes out" before the New York State Supreme Court.

The 24-year-old Marine Corps lieutenant—whose running battle of words and wits with the AAU is approaching marathon proportions—made the statement Saturday night after taking his section of the Journal mile in 4:10.5 against token opposition by Bill Taylor and Ed Kirk.

He was referring to his scheduled trial Thursday when a final decision may or may not be made on his injunction staying the AAU from invoking its lifetime suspension of him on charges of accepting excessive expense money last year.

'Plans Are To Run'

Asked what he would do if the high court ruled against him, Santee replied, "My plans are to run in Cleveland."

"If my suspension sticks, we have plans," he added. "We hope to move through normal channels. I am not at liberty to divulge what those plans are."

He wouldn't elaborate on the point.

In reply to a question of whether he thought he would get fairer treatment if his case were referred back to his home district, AAU Missouri Valley District, Santee said, "It is not a matter of fair treatment, but of being exact in interpretation of the rules." He wouldn't amplify that point either.

As was the case in the New York K. of C. Games last week when he came home first in his section in 4:13.8, the sellout crowd of 10,200 at the sixth annual Journal games was with him.

Roars Of Approval

They stood up and urged him on with roars of approval—cheering his every stride over the last quarter mile. "The cheers were more spontaneous in New York," Santee said, "but the reaction here was wonderful."

Santee said the wholesale withdrawals of milers from the races in which he competes hasn't effected his running.

"I don't hold it against the boys," he said. "You can't blame them for pulling out of a race when it may hurt their entire future in amateur athletics."

Santee passed Taylor, stationed with him at Quantico, Va., at the halfway mark and won going away. Kirk, of the Air Force, finished second and Taylor a distant third. Billy Tidwell of Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia won the other section from a five-man field in 4:10.9.

White Sox Edge Reds In 10 6-5

TAMPA, Fla., (AP)—The Chicago White Sox won their second straight exhibition game over the Cincinnati Reds Sunday, gaining a 6-5 decision in the 10th inning.

Pinchhitter Bob Nieman's sacrifice fly with one out and the bases loaded, produced the winning run.

The defeat went to Sonny Senerchia, rookie righthander acquired by the Reds from St. Louis last January.

Senerchia, a converted infielder, walked four of the seven men he faced in the extra inning.

Home runs accounted for the first 4 runs in the game—one apiece by the Sox' Bob Kennedy and the Reds' Dutch Dotterer, in the second.

The Reds picked up a tying run in the ninth, but Sox hurler Howie Pollet retired pinchhitter Matt Batt Batts with the bases loaded. Pollet was credited with the win.

Liberian 'Duke' Boosts Hopes At Midland For Tennis Title

FREMONT — Midland College's Nebraska College Conference tennis champions are getting a boost from Liberia in their bid for a fourth straight NCC title.

Leo Eastman, singles champion at the University of Liberia last year, is bidding for a spot on the Warrior net squad. The 24-year-old Negro is competing with five lettermen for a squad berth.

In early indoor workouts he has shown that he's going to be a strong contender.

Eastman was a well-known sports figure in his home-town of Monrovia as a top high school athlete. Liberian newspaper tabbed him "the duke of Snapper Hill", after the section of Monrovia where he lived. He is studying at Midland under sponsorship of the Liberian government and plans to go into library and government information in Liberia after graduation.

The Midland squad has five veterans back to boost its bid for the NCC title. They are Bob Rump, and Francis Keisler, Fremont sophomore. All lettered last year.

Ronnie Donahue, and David Gieschen, Fremont seniors; Marvin Langeland, Salem, Ore., senior;

Roland Kull, Fremont freshman and Fremont High School regular of last season, and Norman Allen, former York College letterman,

Riverdale, Calif., senior, are also bidding for squad berths.

Ernest Anderson of Omaha came up with a 1,769 total to move into third place in the all-events competition. The top five in all other classes held their spots.

With two more weekends to go, Budweiser Beer of Pierce has the high team scratch score of 2,712; Ernest Anderson and Robert Cunningham have the high scratch in doubles with 1,191 and Earl Lierley's 645 is high scratch in the singles division.

Job Seekers Increase Less Than Usual

The number of job seekers registered with State Labor Department employment offices increased only slightly during February.

Normally, February is the peak month for unemployment in Nebraska.

But the March 1 total of 17,694 persons with job applications on file represents a gain of only 238 over the Feb. 1 total.

More Than Year Ago

The count on March 1 a year ago, however, was 15,090.

Employers listed 4,191 non-farm openings with employment offices during February, slightly more than in the same month last year.

Employment offices filled nearly 3,400 non-farm jobs in February, compared with slightly more than 3,500 a year ago.

Placements included 328 in construction, 870 in manufacturing and 957 in trade.

Unemployment Claims Rise

Volume of unemployment claims, which rose steadily in January, increased further in February.

A weekly average of 9,271 persons filed claims during the past month, compared with 8,200 in January, 1956, and 8,908 in February, 1955.

Payments totaled $872,537 in February, 1956; $734,899 in January, 1956, and $778,744 in February a year ago.

When someone's counting on you...

you can count
on life insurance

You probably have a secret place in your heart where you store your dreams for your children. These are hopes that are brighter . . . responsibilities that are lighter . . . because you own life insurance.

The dollars you put into life insurance are safe, productive dollars. When a life insurance company puts your money to work, its first consideration is safety.

The companies now have invested $904 billions for their 103 million policyholders. This money is in selected securities of business and industry, government bonds, home mortgages and real estate. Because the investments earn money, the cost of your life insurance is less than it would otherwise be.

These carefully selected investments are one of the reasons why you can count on life insurance . . . and why it is America's most widely used form of thrift.

Planning the right life insurance program for your family calls for experienced help. Naturally, the best person to see is your own life insurance agent.

You'll also find helpful suggestions on the various uses of life insurance in the new booklet, Your Life Insurance—and How to Use It. Your free copy will be mailed promptly; simply send your name and address on a postcard to Dept. H.

WISHING WELL

By William J. Miller

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the fine rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then go back to the beginning under the checked figures and repeat.
